Hey! Who are you calling a "fossil"?!

Starts to rain, ...

... so relax, and do the visiting at the condo.

Let's go visit the cousins at their place!

Princess Izzie has a big-screen and lots of movies!

Practice having the grandkids pose for a portrait

... almost got it ...

Let's go out for dinner

Is that grandma's walker or Auri's stroller?

Let's dance before the birthday party!

Welcome to Waugh Drive Bat Colony

We invite you to enjoy one of Houston's most amazing natural phenomena!

BAT-WATCHING TIPS

The bats emerge around sunset most nights, although the bats may vary their emergence time depending on weather conditions.

Please supervise your children and pets; avoid running and shouting. Please don't stand beneath the bridge before or as the bats emerge.

The bats emerge from the east side of the bridge, so the best place to view the emergence is on this viewing platform or on the grassy slope around this platform.

Be sure to give the bats room to fly and please don't attempt to touch them. Even though they are gentle creatures, they may bite in self-defense!

Avoid the use of bright flashlights and camera flashes during the emergence.

Watch for bicycle traffic on the path and vehicle traffic on the street above.

If you follow these simple tips, you'll help us protect our resident bats and keep bat-watching a fun and safe activity for all to enjoy.

Bat viewing and signage made possible through the generous efforts and funding from:

*Houston Endowment, Inc.
Peter and Mary Faye Way Family
Jacob and Terese Hershey Foundation
Buffalo Bayou Partnership
Texas Master Naturalists*

It's getting dark, and we're getting a little "batty"

Sit, relax, and wait for the sunset.

The main event: a BBQ lunch to remember Dave.

The adults look at old pictures, ...

... while the kids watch videos on the small screen.

(Must be a pretty serious show!)

Let's go out and look for Easter eggs!

Getting ready for the formal portrait.

Almost there...

Dave's son Stephen & wife Jenny

Izzie is all wet!

and so is Auri!

Adrian and Laly

Anya and Frida

Time for Dave's favorite: chocolate cake!

Have to go burn off some calories!

Cross a trestle bridge that Houston has converted into a trail

... the trail goes straight to downtown.

There are bicyclists in Houston -- but they cater to the older crowd!

And they have monster cars,

... which are kept at the Art Car Museum.

They do seem to bring out the monster within!

Drive out and visit some of Margaret's old haunts,

... like a local wildlife preserve,

complete with "wildlife"!

Stop to look at the crepe myrtles before hitting the freeway

crepe myrtle, topped with a grackle

And now it's time to say "good bye".

Bye!
